

THE EFFECT OF COMPUTERIZED CAREER COUNSELING PROGRAM, ON THE CAREER MATURITY FOR 10TH GRADE STUDENTS IN AL-MAZAR AL- JANOBI

SOMAIA J. AL- NAWAISEH

Abstract _ This study aims at investigating the effect of computerized career counseling program, on the career maturity for 10th Grade Students, in Al-Mazar Al-Janobi district school, The sample consisted of (60) students from one female school belongs to Al-Mazar district .A scale of "Krites (B-1) form scale for career maturity" was used, to compute the level of maturity for control and experimental groups, before and after training by traditional and computerized programs, the number of each group is (30) students, the results showed that there were significant differences between two groups related to the computerized program. Finally, the study suggested to use technology in career counseling field, and use and design computerized career counseling programs in schools and universities.

Keywords: career counseling, computerized counseling programs, career maturity.