

SATISFACTION OF TRAINEES WITH THE TRAINING PROGRAMS OFFERED BY EDUCATIONAL LEADERS TRAINING CENTER AT KING SAUD UNIVERSITY

FAYEZ ABDULAZIZ ALFAYEZ

Assistant professor

Department of Educational Administration

College of Education

the King Saud University

ABSTRACT_ The study aimed to find out the degree of satisfaction of trainees with the training programs offered by educational leaders training center at King Saud University, and to submit proposals to develop that, researcher has used the descriptive and analytical approach to achieve the objectives of the study, the questionnaire has been used as a tool to collect data, and the study sample consisting of (130) trainees in the training programs offered by the educational leaders training Center at King Saud University. The study found the most important results are: - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on the distribution of teaching hours on a weekday. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on training halls. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on the panel discussions during the training. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on flexibility of program. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on accepting their opinions about the program topics. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on the time required to implement the program. - Satisfaction of trainees with a high degree on the experiences of trainers (faculty members).*

Keyword: Satisfaction, Training Programs, Educational Leaders Training Center.