

PSYCHOLOGICAL ADJUSTMENT AND SOCIAL ADJUSTMENT OF PALESTINIAN WOMEN WHO LOST ONE OF THE RELATIVES AS MARTYRS IN PALESTINE, WHOSE BODIES DETAINED IN THE CEMETERIES

NABEEL AHMAD ABDELHADI
ISSA ALI TAQATQA
SAMEER ISMAIL SHUQAIR
Al-Quds University

ABSTRACT_ The current study aims to identify the relationship between the psychological adjustment and social adjustment of Palestinian women who lost one of the relatives as martyrs in Palestine, whose bodies detained in the Cemeteries. In the light of variables relationship to the martyr, and the number of years to the body detained in the cemetery numbers. To achieve this, a questionnaire was prepared and designed that includes two main themes and 30-items.*

The tools of the study was conducted on sample available of (183) Palestinian women who lost relative as martyrs, whose bodies detained in the cemeteries number in the west bank. The study results have revealed statistically significant differences in the psychological and social adjustment the Palestinian who lost relatives as martyrs. according to relationships and the numbers of years. The study ends up with several recommendations such as planning psychological program and social support.

KEY WORDS: Psychological & Social adjustment. Palestinian women who lost on of relatives as martyrs whose bodies destined in cemeteries.*